Mine Games under construction at Trinity

By IBI Magazine

Trinity Yachts has revealed that construction of a new 49.9m (164ft) aluminium tri-deck motoryacht called Mind Games is well underway at its US shipyard and is expected to launch in late 2007.

The new superyacht will have an interior design by Patrick Knowles, who is currently designing four of the 18 superyachts currently under construction at the group's yard.

When completed, Mine Games will be able to accommodate an owner's party of 11 in five staterooms and a crew of 10 in five cabins. The tri-deck yacht has a split-level master stateroom positioned forward on the main deck that offers a stateroom with a 180° panorama from the bed and, on the lower level, a lounge and his-and-hers bathrooms.

Propulsion will be from twin 3516B-HD Caterpillar engines producing 3,384hp at 1800 rpm for a top speed of around 24kt. A 16,000-gallon (60,566lt) fuel tank will allow a large cruising range of approximately 3,000Nm at 13kt. Mind Games will also have a stabilising system featuring the Quantum Zero Speed.
